1 Look closely at the artworks by both Joseph McNally and Lim Tzay Chuen. Think of at least 3 different things (animal, object, person, etc) each of the artworks here can look like.
2 What do you think each of these artworks is inspired by? Why do you say so?
3 Compare these 3 artworks by the two artists — what do they have in common? What is so unique about each one of them?
4 What questions about the artworks would you ask the artists if you meet them one day?
5 The works by the two artists are presented in the different materials of wood and paper. How does the choice of material express the subject matter differently?
6 Use the blank labels on the back of page 7 and give these 2 artworks each a title you think best describes the artists' inspirations.

By STUDYING THE UNTITLED ARTWORKS IN THIS EXHIBITION, HOW WILL YOU RE-TITLE THESE WORKS, BASED ON YOUR INTERPRETATION OF THEM? THIS EDUCATION GUIDE PROVIDES QUESTIONS AND NEW POSSIBILITIES OF UNDERSTANDING THE DIFFERENT CHARACTERISTICS OF THE ARTWORKS. USE THESE QUESTIONS FOR A DISCUSSION ABOUT WHAT YOU THINK THE ARTWORKS MIGHT BE ABOUT. REMEMBER, THERE IS NO RIGHT OR WRONG ANSWER. YOU CAN GIVE THESE ARTWORKS YOUR OWN TITLE, USING THE BLANK LABELS ON THE BACK OF PAGE 7 AND INSERTING THEM INTO THE SLOTS NEXT TO THE ARTWORKS IN THE GALLERY.

1 Describe this artwork to a friend next to you in as much detail as you can — try using words that describe the colours, lines, patterns, shapes and texture that you see.
2 Look closely at the artwork now — what is the most interesting thing about this artwork?
3 Stand back and take a look now at the artwork — what does it look like/remind you of?
4 Imagine drawing a line from any one point of the artwork to another point across from it — what do you discover?
5 Paintings are usually presented as four-sided canvases, but this work is in the shape of a hexagon. Why do you think the artist chose such a way of presenting painting?
6 Sometimes, artwork titles are accompanied by a description of the work. What does this tell you about the function of titles?

▸CHEO CHAI-HIANG
Untitled, 1976
(Miles to go before I sleep)

Wood, mixed media
NHB Collection

1 Look at the objects that are used to make both artworks. Can you identify them?
2 Have you seen these objects before? Where have you seen them, and what are they usually used for?
3 How are these objects being used in the artworks? In what ways do you find them interesting/not interesting?
4 Looking at the way these objects are used, how has your understanding of the function of these objects changed?
5 Language and text can also play an important role in the meaning of an artwork, as seen in the words "Miles to go before I sleep" in Cheo Chai-Hiang's work. Why do you think the artist included them in the work?
6 In Baet Yeok Kuan's work, how has the artist changed the way you understand what a horn is as an object, as well as material in art-making?
7 Use the blank labels on the back of page 7 and give these two artworks each a title you think best describes how it makes you feel.

▸CHUA EK KAY
Untitled, Undated
Oil on canvas
153 × 158 cm

1 How many shapes do you see in this artwork?
2 This artwork shows a Chinese character. Can you figure out what it is?
Why do you think the artist chose to use this as a subject?
3 What do you think the artist is trying to tell you through his choice of subject?
4 Imagine changing the character in this artwork to a word or an alphabet from another language. Do you think it changes anything about the artwork? In what ways does it affect the artwork?
5 The painting appears to have an unfinished quality to it. What do you think the artist is trying to say?
6 An unfinished-looking painting can still be considered a completed artwork, with important meaning behind it. What do you think?
7 Use the blank labels on the back of page 7 and give this artwork a title you think best describes what you think it means.
